RUMOR DELEGATE QUILTS IS STRONG

Repeated rumors that Delegate Kuhl had resigned, upon receipt of cable news to Washington that the Republican convention had named Frear as a delegate to the national convention in Chicago, furnished a shock to politicians and business men this morning.

The news connected John Colburn and the Rev. Stephen L. Desha as men who had received a cablegram to this effect.

Mr. Colburn this afternoon said he was not just then in a position to make anything public, and would neither confirm nor deny the rumor that such a cablegram had been received.

Others of Kuhl's close personal friends said this morning that while they had heard of the rumors, they knew of no such cablegram and doubted if the prince had resigned.

It is admitted by many, however, that a resignation by the prince would not be greatly surprising in view of the fact that the Frear League forces had succeeded in putting Frear on the delegation along with Kuhl, whose charges against Frear's administration have been taken up in Washington.

There are also rumors of various cablegrams sent or to be sent to the prince.

"I shall cable Kuhl that he should resign," said W. C. Achi this morning. "Such work as that at the convention yesterday is too much. Kuhl would resign could he have seen it."

On the other hand, one of the prince's personal friends, who holds an official position, is credited with the statement that he would urge Kuhl not to resign.

The rumors are disquieting to business men. The resignation of Prince Kuhl, involving that of his secretary, George McK. McCallum, at this critical point in sugar tariff revision proceedings would, it is considered, be particularly distressing to Hawaiian interests.

Site For Armory Is Returned

The "drill shed lot" has been restored to the Territory by the Federal government, and the promise of President Taft, then Secretary of War, made eight years ago, finally fulfilled. This welcome news was contained in an executive order of the President, received at National Guard headquarters this morning. Plans for the armory that is to be built on the lot will be commenced at once, and on July 1 of this year $100,000 will be available for construction.

The lot located back to the Territory has a frontage of 200 feet on Hotel street, and runs back the entire distance to Heerania, with a "panhandle." It is fully large enough for an up-to-date armory.

While those interested in militia affairs have been working hard for this legislation, final credit is due to General Macdonald, whose strong recommendation that the lot be given back without compensation by exchange, finally clinched the matter.

The lot must be used for armory purposes alone, however, and only a year is given for the completion of the work, the closing section of the President's order being as follows:

"Provided, that if the said portion of the barracks lot is not utilized for the construction of a suitable armory within twelve months after the date of this order, or if at any time thereafter it shall cease to be used for the purpose of an armory site for the organized militia of the Territory of Hawaii, then this order shall become inoperative and the land shall be restored to the use of the United States."

ORIGINAL "DIANA LARNED" IN HONOLULU NOW ON HONEYMOON

An actress, a prominent Los Angeles physician, a wedding that partook of the nature of an elopement, a voyage on the Pacific Mail liner Mongolia—such are the elements of a romance in which Honolulu is now figuring as one of the scenes.

By the Mongolia this morning there arrived Dr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Treven of Los Angeles. Until February 29 last Mrs. Treven was Miss Helene Sullivan, for some years a member of the Helasco stock company of Los Angeles. It was Miss Sullivan who created the part of "Diana Larned" in the original production of Richard Wain-

Fisher Is Bristow's Plan For Tariff

OFFICIAL CONFIRMATION OF FISHER'S PROBE HERE.

That Secretary Fisher is coming to Hawaii to investigate Governor Frear's administration, as the result of Delegate Kuhl's charges, was the news carried by the Associated Press from Washington on April 3. The coming of the Secretary is regarded as absolutely assured, and the Bulletin's special correspondence from Washington, which has been giving this news for months, is confirmed by official statements from the White House.

BY C. S. ALBERT.
(Special Bulletin Correspondence.)
WASHINGTON, D. C., Apr. 6.—The opponents of free sugar in the Senate have wisely taken advantage of the benefits derived from being first on the battleground and are laying in stock all kinds of ammunition for the fight. The nature of the defensive plans clearly indicates the hopelessness of perfected legislation at this session of Congress. The progressive Republicans and Democrats can come to no agreement on the subject and each will follow their own course. Without a coalition nothing whatever can be accomplished.

The death of Senator Taylor has further served to render sugar legislation entirely out of the question. His death removed one vote from the Democratic side. The Governor of Tennessee is a Republican and naturally selected one of his faith as successor to (Continued on Page 3)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Apr. 6.—Secretary Fisher has framed up a plan to bring Delegate Kahanamoku and Governor Frear together and have them fight out their differences before him. He will act as referee. His purpose is to get an exact conception of their antagonistic views in regard to administration of the land laws in Hawaii.

A positive announcement has just been made to the Bulletin by Secretary Fisher that he will positively visit Hawaii. He has accepted President Taft's insistence and will undertake the journey.

At the same time the Secretary said he would not go to Hawaii until Delegate Kahanamoku returns. If he remains here until the final adjournment of Congress he will then go with him to Honolulu. If the Delegate should determine to leave before adjournment the Secretary will try and arrange his affairs and accompany him. Mr. Fisher is extremely anxious to remain until the business of Congress has been concluded. The Interior Department is much interested in many pending bills and the Secretary would prefer to be on the spot until his measures have either been passed or killed.

Wants to Reconcile Them.

Secretary Fisher said he was positively determined to bring Delegate Kahanamoku and Governor Frear face to face in Honolulu and have them explain and discuss their differences. He believes more can be accomplished in that way than by any other means. He will make a complete tour of the islands and ascertain at first hand just what is necessary for their betterment and he is in a position to recommend such remedial legislation next winter as will prove beneficial and satisfactory to the people of Hawaii.

Secretary Fisher continues hopeful of being able to harmonize the differences between the Delegate and Governor Frear. He does not think this can be achieved here, but is acting on the supposition that in a three-cornered conference an amicable arrangement can be effected.

DOLE'S SPEECH FOR SECRET BALLOT IS DRAMATIC CLIMAX

Federal Judge Sanford B. Dole made a brief speech at the Republican Territorial Convention yesterday afternoon that will mark for those present the most dramatic moment in a session packed with sensation, and with other sensations ready to be sprung.

It was when the final vote was taken on the question of an open or secret ballot, and Judge Dole arose from his seat and after a few words of explanation voted for the secret ballot. Going directly against the faction with whom he had voted all day long, his position assumed startling significance. He declared that he had heard things during the convention that raised the question of whether or not delegates present were voting under coercion. He took his stand for a secret ballot in order to assure them in dependence of action.

As the tall, soldierlike figure of the veteran Hawaiian jurist and leader in public affairs through many troublous times arose and straightened, the noisy convention hall was still to absolute silence. As his measured words, quiet but emphatic, sounded through the auditorium, the silence continued, broken at last by repeated cheers from the Kuhl-Taft forces when his meaning became clear. And cheers rang out again when he took his seat.

Leaders on the other side sat stunned and nonplussed. A federal judge, an official of the United States, had brought unmistakably before them the question of coercion of delegates. Judge Dole's speech will remain the supremely dramatic point of the convention.

HALIFAX, N. S., April 16.—The steamers Virginian and Parisian have wirelessed that they have no Titanic survivors aboard. Major Archie Butt, military aide to the President, and Astor are missing.

HALIFAX, N. S., April 16.—The White Star officials today gave out statements saying that 866 people, mostly women and children, are on board the Carpathia, rescued from the Titanic. The number of those unaccounted for is now 1617.

The cableship Minia is reported to have sighted wreckage. No boats or rafts have been found.

Steamers are cruising near the scene of the wreck, but most have abandoned hope of rescue and continued their voyages.

Mrs. Astor, Mrs. Isidor Strauss, wife of the multi-millionaire, and Mrs. Jacques Futrelle, wife of the author, survive.

J. B. Thayer, president of the Pennsylvania railway, is unaccounted for.

Two revenue cutters have been dispatched to meet the Carpathia on her approach to Long Island, where she is due Thursday morning.

The Virginian, which arrived at the scene too late to help in the rescue, has proceeded eastward.

Resolutions of sympathy by the parliaments of the world are being received. The loss is now estimated at $2,100,000.

NEW YORK, N. Y., April 16.—The fact that the steamer Parisian is proceeding to Halifax instead of to Philadelphia, her destination, is hoped to indicate that she has survivors of the Titanic disaster aboard. She will probably communicate with Sable Island tonight. The Virginian and the Olympic are eastbound.

Dr. Washington Dodge of San Francisco, is missing. Mrs. Dodge and the family are aboard the Carpathia.

The wreck occurred in latitude 41-16 and longitude 50-14

LONDON, Eng., April 16.—Alexander Carlisle, designer of the Titanic, says the side of the vessel must have been torn off by the iceberg, otherwise she would not have sunk.

The Strausses had not intended to take the Titanic to America. They caught the boat at the last minute.

SILLY JOKE VICTIMIZES ZANE, ON WILHELMINA

R. R. Zane, a highly-respected young man, was the innocent victim of a fool joke said to be perpetrated by a fellow passenger who came down to Honolulu to take up newspaper work.

Unbeknown to Zane, a man by the name of Hull is said to have filed a wireless message with Operator Frankel on Sunday in which false and damaging statements against the character of the unsuspecting passenger were set forth. The wireless was evidently received here in good faith and published broadcast in a local paper.

The receipt of the alarming message drew several representatives of the Police Department to the Hackfeld wharf this morning to secure their "prisoner."

Manager John Drew of the shipping department of Castle & Cooke immediately informed that

Zane was a thoroughly riled individual when he was shown a scare-headed story played up on the first page of an afternoon sheet under the caption "Passenger in Irons," which went on to state that, according to a wireless message from the Wilhelmina, R. Zane, a passenger on board the Wilhelmina, had been placed in irons, misbehavior being alleged.

Inquiry made at the office of Castle & Cooke, the local agents for the Matson steamer, and from Purser Charles Drew of the Wilhelmina indicate that

WAILUKU GIRLS WIN AFTER TIE

(Special Bulletin Wireless.)
WAILUKU, Maui, Apr. 16.—The final basketball game between the Wailuku team and the girls from St. Andrew's Priory, of Honolulu, played last night, resulted in an exciting tie, the score being 21 to 21 when time was up. The Priory team lost two points when Miss Hilda Chillingworth, referee, declared a foul, and in spite of a protest by the Honolulu captain, this ruling stood. In the play-off, Wailuku scored two points and won.

Rivalry was soon forgotten in the dance that followed the game. The Priory girls are voted here to be the finest, fairest and truest sports that ever visited Maui.
