LYNCH TALKS QUITE SAUCY TO MR. KERR

The Gentleman From Graham Had a Few Pertinent Remarks to Make to the Gentleman From Yuma and Made Them

'T WAS ALL ABOUT QUESTION OF LAW

Wherein, the Minority Leader Informed His Antagonist of Several Matters About the Latter's Legal Acumen

The legislative session yesterday was here of oratory in both houses though in the lower house there was much heated debate, some of which carried with it the fervency of strong conviction and a little of the spirit of acrimonious personality. The senate day was as the flowing stream that moved along in considerable volume but did not get a great deal of its load past a given point.

Only one new bill appeared in the senate, of interest only in Yuma county, and but one bill was passed, the measure for compelling the laws. The house passed the train limit bill, received seven new ones and indefinitely postponed several measures. The foreign corporation bills took up considerable attention.

Announcement was made in the senate that the public health committee will hold a public meeting at the capital Friday night at 7 o'clock for discussing senate bill 75 providing for a board of osteopathy, and kindred subjects.

Announcement was also made by the education committee of a public meeting at the capital at 8 o'clock Friday night to discuss the needs of the state university and normal schools.

THE SENATE

After formal opening of the senate, senate bill 81, the three cent fare bill, was brought up and by consent it was allowed to rest in committee until the corporation commission has agreed upon the legislation it desires.

Committee Reports

Agriculture committee recommended the passage of senate bill 68, as amended, to investigate water resources.

The judiciary committee recommended the passage of senate bill 19 as amended concerning rights of married persons; house bill 60, relating to vacancies in office, house bill 44, as amended relating to court procedure; senate bill 111, as amended, amending paragraph 3784 in title 38 of the statutes.

Under second reading the following bills were sent to the committees:

House bill 551, relative to fire insurance companies, banking and insurance committee.

House bill 53, surety companies, same order.

House bill 55 right to peddle farm produce, irrigation and agriculture.

Senate bill 26, divorce, 30 county affairs.

The senate went into committee of the whole with Mr. Sims in the chair.

Senate bill 75 creating supervisorial districts was laid on the table.

Senate bill 47, anti-lobbying, recommended for passage as amended.

House bill 45, mine tax bill recommended for passage as amended.

Senate bill 69, to fill vacancies in office, recommended for passage.

Senate bill for garnishment of cities and officials, recommended for death.

Senate bill 20, liens on mines, same sentence.

Senate bill 31, exemption from seizure, recommended for passage as amended.

The committee rose and bills recommended for passage were sent to the committee on style, revision and compilation and senate bill 106, senate bill 16, senate bill 20, were indefinitely postponed, after which the senate refreshed itself with the mid-day recess.

The afternoon saw one new bill in the senate.

Senate bill 119 by Wessel by request, is to grant the supervisors of Yuma county authority to pay to Felix Mayhew and others, a certain sum of money they advanced for road building.

F. J. Elliott of the Miami Copper company, also filed an application to appear before the senate as a legislative agent.

The senate then went into committee of the whole with Mr. Sims in the chair and considered the following measures:

Senate bill 65 relating to limitations of action, indefinitely postponed.

Senate bill 92 relating to false financial statements, amended and passed to second reading.

Senate bill 94 making it a crime to issue checks when the drawer has no money in the bank to cover, amended.

COMPARES COLLISION WITH FIRE OF GUNS

Naval Engineer Says Titanic Struck Iceberg With Force of Thirty Twelve Inch Projectiles.

[Associated Press Dispatch]
WASHINGTON, April 17.—A graphic comparison of the probable impact of the Titanic against the iceberg that destroyed her, with the projectile force of big guns on modern battleship, was made today by Captain C. A. McAllister, engineer-in-chief of the revenue cutter service.

"The impact of the Titanic against the iceberg," he said, "was about equivalent to the simultaneous fire of 30 twelve-inch guns, such as the Florida carries. The fire of ten of these guns would put away any battleship afloat if hit simultaneously. The force of the Titanic striking the iceberg must have been approximately one million foot tons, equivalent to her being struck at once by thirty twelve-inch projectiles. It is a wonder she floated so long. It is inconceivable that the ingenuity of man could ever devise a floating structure that could withstand such terrific impact."

WOULD DEBATE

Gardner, of Massachusetts, Has Issued a Challenge

[Associated Press Dispatch]
SILVER CREEK, Neb., April 17.—Roosevelt declined today to engage in joint debate with Congressman Gardner, of Massachusetts, who said an effort was being made to link the name of Taft with that of Lorimer and other unpopular persons to whom the president is always opposed. Roosevelt declared the "linking" was done by Taft and that Taft had made no effort to break the link until it was proved unprofitable to him.

SAW BIG BERGS

Steamer From Havre Passed Ice Field in North Atlantic

NEW YORK, April 17.—What is said to have been the greatest iceberg field ever seen off the coast of New Foundland was skirted by the steamship La Bretagne, which arrived here from Havre today bringing 775 passengers. The field was seventy miles long and probably as wide and the Bretagne was five hours passing along the edge. Several enormous bergs were seen, some of them as large as the ship. The Bretagne sighted the field Sunday in the immediate place where the Titanic struck.

MADERO DOES NOT CONCEDE SINGLE POINT

Mexican President Resents Notice That He Must Guard Interests of Americans

SAYS HE KNOWS RULES OF WAR

Complicates Situation More Than Ever and Next Move by Taft is Awaited

(BULLETIN).
At two this morning the Associated Press announced that Ceballos had been taken by the rebels yesterday afternoon. There were no details.

[Associated Press Dispatch]

MEXICO CITY, April 17.—The Mexican government refuses the right of the American government to instruct it on its duties regarding the observance of international law. This declaration was made in a statement by Minister of Foreign Affairs Calero today in reply to the demand of Assistant Secretary of State Huntington Wilson.

After quoting the Washington note, the reply said: "The Mexican government has full consciousness of its duties and neither by its acts nor by manifestations of its functionaries has given reason to doubt the sincerity of its determination to respect generally the accepted principles of international law and the rules which govern the conduct of civilized nations. For this, and other reasons, the Mexican government finds itself in the painful necessity of not recognizing the right of your government to make the admonition which your note contains for the reason it is not based on any incident that should be chargeable to the Mexican government. In view of the fact that part of the country is in a state of rebellion, the principal endeavor of the government is to put down that rebellion, and if attempts are committed against the lives, or property of foreigners, the legitimate government cannot be obligated in this respect, except as in the same terms as would the United States if a rebellion existed on its own territory. The government of the United States must be assured it is the firm determination of the Mexican government to observe all the principles of international law, and the laws of the country with which the latter are in full conformity and with the former with respect to American citizens or other foreigners who may be made prisoners among the rebel forces, and although it does not appear the chiefs of the government forces have declared they will execute summarily any foreigners found fighting with the rebels, orders have been sent to them to treat these men, if taken prisoners, in conformity with the laws of the republic and of international practice."

DOUGLAS, Ariz., April 17.—All Mormons living in Mexico have been advised by United States Senator Reed Smoot, of Utah, to send all women and children out of Mexico at once, according to apparently reliable information that reached here today. The report also stated that the men are advised to concentrate at Colonia Morelos, 55 miles from Douglas, and to close their stores at San Miguel and Colonia Oaxaca.

TALKS OF TAFT.

Candidate Says the President is Profiting by Wrongdoing.

[Associated Press Dispatch]
OMAHA, April 17.—"There is not one state in ten where Taft would have any chance if the vote were left to the people themselves," declared Roosevelt in an address here tonight, in which he attacked the methods of the national Taft bureau. "To profit by wrong doing," he added, "is mighty little better than actually to do wrong and the administration is seeking to profit by this wrong doing."

HEADGEAR OF ALL SORTS IS IN THE RING

It All Came About When Council Met Last Night to Discuss City Charter

TRADES COUNCIL WANTS TO HELP That Is, With the Making of the Charter for New Form of Government

The very air of the council chamber was charged last evening with electrical and other kinds of energy, which developed into positives and negatives very soon after the mayor's arrival.

It was all about the charter. The trouble started when the mayor read a letter from the trades council protesting because the laboring man had not been given recognition in the framing of the tentative charter. At least the protest said that such recognition was lacking.

Then W. G. Griffin, president of the trades council, took the floor and told the city legislature just where to head in. He discussed eloquently the "inalienable rights" of what he termed "his bunch," and insisted upon representation on the official commission.

City Attorney Prescott pointed out that the council did not elect the charter commission, but that nominations would be made in the regular way, according to law, and the fellows who got the most votes were "it."

During the course of his remarks the city attorney referred to "you voters" as being the proper ones to choose and elect these officers. By that remark the lawyer man started as much of a disturbance as though he had made a bum decision at a ball game.

Griffin interpreted Prescott's words as "you workers" and intimated in heated language that Prescott had looked right in the direction of his committee when he said it. That he had in fact "pointed the finger of scorn" "to all workers," said he, "and will not be held in contempt and contempt," or words to that effect.

Mr. Prescott explained that he was strong for labor, and that he never said it now. Griffin magnanimously "let it pass," the mayor ruled that personalities must cease and Barney Kersting shed his hat into the ring.

Kersting had his pocket filled with petitions calling upon the mayor to call a freeholders election to choose a charter commission. He suggested that, though, perhaps the council might all favor the commission form of government, he wanted to know "when." He had waited a long time and had stayed off the dogs of war for months just because he wanted to give the council a chance, and now he wanted action pronto or he would "sue" his petitions on the public and that where would the council be?

Councilman Cliney made a few remarks, the most interesting of which alleged that "Kersting was an apt scholar at casting insinuations."

Then Kersting took a fresh hold, and in about a minute had run afoul of Fred Cleveland, chairman of the unofficial commission. Cleveland, according to the speaker, had repeatedly put him off when he went to him to ask about the status of the charter.

Mr. Cleveland was present. He took the floor in defense of the commission and the charter. He pointed out that for seven months the commission had worked, gathering data from all parts of the country and molding the very best charter for a commission governed city that could be devised. He declared that the commission had performed in just the manner he had assured Mr. Kersting it would perform, and that the best interests of the city had been uppermost at all times.

He then formally presented an official copy of the unofficial charter which was ordered received and placed in the archives until the official commission is elected, when it will be turned over to that body for its consideration.

The mayor explained that the old commission had no legal authority, but had been appointed simply to expedite matters, and that if any party or faction had been neglected in the appointment of the committee he was responsible, but that his ambition was to have upon the board a group of representative citizens commanding the respect of the public at large.

Nearly every member of the council resented the insinuation that there was an inclination to delay the calling of an election or the fulfilling of the will of the people in any way.

Mr. Cliney moved that the city attorney be instructed to secure the opinion of the attorney general of the state as to the proper way to proceed in calling the election. There is a conflict between the old primary law and the constitution. Under the primary law it will be necessary to hold a primary and then the election, the

SENATE WILL PROBE TITANIC DISASTER

Resolution by William Alden Smith Demands Facts Regarding the Life Boat Service.

[Associated Press Dispatch]
WASHINGTON, April 17.—Bills and resolutions, designed to prevent a repetition of disasters like that of the Titanic, poured into the house and senate today. Smith, of Michigan, the ranking member of the senate naval committee, offered one demanding a thorough investigation of the disaster, and particularly the inadequacy of lifeboats. It passed under unanimous consent within an hour and twenty minutes. Other bills were also offered by Perkins, chairman of the naval committee, and Martine, of New Jersey. In the house many such measures were offered and quick action is promised.

THIS IS A FINE JUDICIAL TANGLE

Judge No. 1 Cites Judge No. 2 and Judge No. 2 Then Cites Judge No. 1.

[Associated Press Dispatch]
CHICAGO, April 17.—Greek met Greek here today when Circuit Judge McKimley of Cook county cited Judge Owens of the county court, to appear before him to show why he should not be cited for contempt, and Judge Owens cited Judge McKimley for exactly the same reason. Whether either judge could send the other to jail and whether, when in jail, the first could retaliate upon the second with a longer sentence, and whether such sentence would be valid, were questions which caused politicians to chuckle but look anxious here tonight. The orders of the two judges grew out of the conflict at the democratic county convention a few days ago and which ended in a split between the Hearst-Sullivan factions.

HE'S NOT SO BAD.

Report of Senator Lorimer's Serious Illness is Denied.

CARPATHIA IS DRAWING NEAR TO NEW YORK

Rescue Ship, With Her Precious Human Freight, Is Creeping Down New England Coast Toward the Metropolis

HOPES WITHER AND THEN DIE

Relatives of Passengers, Who Had Clung for Days to Belief in Rescue, at Last Surrender to Grim Despair

(Bulletin).
SIASCONSETT, April 18.—The wireless operator on the Carpathia early this morning heard a report that John Jacob Astor was not on board the Titanic. He said he did not know whether Benjamin Guggenheim or Major Archibald Butt were among the saved.

[Associated Press Dispatch]
NEW YORK, April 18.—Beyond even the mystery of how the Titanic met her fate, another mystery, evolved by the events of the last three days forced itself to the front last night. Although the rescue ship Carpathia was within the zone of wireless communication for hours during the night, and shore stations and ships were able to obtain from her long lists of the survivors among the steerage passengers and many private messages, not a word of matter descriptive of the manner in which the Titanic received her death blow, or how those aboard the doomed ship comforted themselves in the face of certain death, has reached the shore. She has given lists of all cabin passengers which are claimed to have been on board, but the word of world-wide interest, demanded of the Carpathia was that she should reveal what took place on the Titanic's decks when it became known the fate of the huge liner was sealed. But that word not spoken. Neither was there any explanation from the surviving officers of the Titanic as to how their ship came to strike the iceberg. Repeated requests were sent the Carpathia during the day for answers to these questions, but to all came no reply. One explanation offered was the wireless operator of the Carpathia was exhausted and compelled to take a rest, so as not to answer calls. But it is known the second wireless operator of the Titanic is aboard the Carpathia, and his silence is not understood. A censorship appeared to exist aboard the Carpathia. The Brooklyn navy yard wireless office reported the scout cruiser "Salem" had wired it could read the Carpathia, but "the word" answer us. We sent President Taft's message regarding Major Butt, but got no O. K."

NEW YORK, April 17.—The roll of the saved from the Titanic disaster tonight seems complete. Practically every attending circumstance in the transmission of news from the Carpathia goes to show that only 328 of the 610 cabin passengers of the Titanic are safe on the rescue ship. The 282 cabin passengers, whose names do not appear on the lists sent ashore by wireless yesterday must be conceded among the 1,312 believed to be dead.

Thousands of hopeful hearts turned to despair when the United States scout cruiser Chester sent a wireless dispatch late tonight that she had been in communication with the Carpathia and had asked repeatedly for a full list of the cabin passengers and that the rescue ship answered all names had been sent ashore. The other 540 saved were members of the steerage or the crew. After a strain of three days without news of the missing ones, there were few hopeful tonight who still held against the final word as to the fate of their friends and relatives.

The Carpathia this morning was 600 miles off the coast from New York and is expected here tomorrow night or early Friday morning. From the steamer Franconia today came a new report as to the number of survivors aboard the Carpathia. In a wireless she said the "Carpathia" had 795 aboard. All previous statements were that she carried 868. It may be the count of the Franconia does not include the members of the crew who manned the boat. Communication is being had tonight with the Carpathia through both the scout cruisers Chester and Salem and with the wireless station at Siasconsett. Through the Chester there came slowly the names of those in the third class cabin who were rescued. The very sending of these names could not but help confirm the belief there were no more first or second class cabin passengers aboard and that all their names had been sent ashore. So there is scarcely a doubt that such well known names as J. T. Astor, W. T. Stead, Isidor Straus and many other notables could scarcely have been omitted in the transmission of the names.
